

Accessing the museum of tolerance DEIR on-line

1. Copy and paste this link into your browser:
<http://cityplanning.lacity.org/eir/Tolerance/DEIR/DEIR%20Museum%20of%20Tolerance.html>
2. When the page opens, scroll down the page until just below where you see Diana K's mailing address.
3. Click on the downward-pointing arrow to the right of the rectangular box under where it says "For DEIR Sections". You will get a drop-down menu of all the sections of the DEIR. Using your mouse, move the cursor down to highlight each section. If you want to read a section, then keep the title of that section highlighted, and click on the word "Go."
4. Each section must be opened separately - - there's no way (at least that I can figure out) to view or print the entire DEIR at one time. For each section you want to print, you just open that section as described in #3 above, and then once it is open, you can hit "print" on your toolbar to print the entire section, or just print particular pages.
5. Many of the sections in the main part of the DEIR are supplemented with illustrations (which you can find in the menu under "For Graphic Exhibits" and studies (which you can find in the menu under "For Technical Appendices"). There are three separate volumes of these appendices, and the Traffic Study is in two parts, with Part 1 at the end of Vol. II and Part 2 at the beginning of Vol III.
